Introduction - Regional Investment Activation Fund - Stream Two

The Regional Investment Activation Fund (RIAF) grant fund is a key component of the Regional Investment Activation Program (RIAP) announced in the 2022-23 NSW Budget. RIAP is a $145 million program that aims to make regional NSW the location of choice for investors and activate the economic potential of priority precincts and key industries in alignment with the 20-Year Economic Vision for Regional NSW Refresh.

RIAF will co-invest with eligible entities in catalytic projects that will deliver significant economic, social and/or environmental benefits for a priority industry or location.

The objectives of RIAF are to:

- support the growth of existing industries and the establishment of new/emerging industries where regional NSW has a strong actual or potential competitive advantage
- activate the economic potential of Special Activation Precincts, Regional Job Precincts, Renewable Energy Zones, hydrogen hubs and other priority locations through increased private sector investment
- create new high quality employment opportunities
- support the shift towards higher-value-added activities and participation in global value chains and supply chains
- promote collaboration between businesses, education and research institutions and other parties through sharing of knowledge, resources and infrastructure.

The 20-Year Economic Vision for Regional NSW Refresh (the Vision) sets out the key investment priorities and opportunities to drive sustainable, long-term economic growth in regional NSW. The Department of Regional NSW (DRNSW) is the central agency for regional issues in NSW and is responsible for delivering the Vision. This includes creating the conditions to support private sector investment in key industries, locations, infrastructure and technologies that will ensure regional NSW continues to be a great place to live, work, visit and do business.

The $110 million Regional Investment Activation Fund (RIAF) aims to activate the economic potential of key industries and locations in alignment with the Vision and other NSW Government strategies and priorities. It will deliver sustainable employment opportunities, activate new industries, promote cluster development, and drive increased productivity, innovation and competitiveness of businesses in regional NSW.

The NSW Government has designed the RIAF to unlock private sector investment through two targeted funding streams:

- Stream One – an open, competitive grants program with a two-stage application and assessment process (Expression of Interest followed by Detailed Application). Eligible applications will be assessed on their comparative merits against the nominated eligibility and assessment criteria.
- Stream Two – an open, non-competitive grants program where applicants can contact the Department to apply for funding. Applications will be assessed individually, without reference to the comparative merits of other applications. Stream Two aims to provide increased flexibility to secure investments that are time-sensitive and strategically significant for a priority industry or location.

This Expression of Interest relates to Stream Two only.

In Stream Two, DRNSW is seeking to identify projects that, if assessed as suitable, may be recommended to the NSW Government for funding support under RIAF.
